Lewy Body Dementia 101

Lewy Body Dementia affects more than 1 million individuals in the United States. Now seen as the second most common dementia disease plaguing our nation, many professionals have very little knowledge or training on this debilitating disease. This session will introduce professionals to Lewy Body Dementia, describe common symptoms, and challenges that individuals face, and review best practices to include with care.

After attending this course participants will be able to:

- Introduce and identify Lewy body dementia (LBD)
- Describe the basics of Lewy body dementia (LBD) including how physicians diagnose, and why so many individuals are misdiagnosed for Alzheimer's or Parkinson's disease
- Give examples of common symptoms and why some symptoms can be a challenge to healthcare professionals.
- Identify common treatments and management of symptoms.
- Give examples of best practices when working with individuals who have Lewy Body Dementia (LBD)
- List resources for more information for you and your staff.
